

Managing for Profit

Support, Connection and Momentum

A fortnightly live forum for RCS graduates.

Are you keen to keep up the momentum and support after doing a course with RCS?

Looking for a place to ask questions and be guided on the implementation of the principles of regenerative agriculture into your operation?

Join us and continue learning without having to pick up a book!

At its core, Managing for Profit is an accessible way for RCS course graduates to find community and make changes to their on-farm management with the knowledge and support of others. The program is delivered by experienced RCS advisors, revisiting key principles from Grazing for Profit School, on the areas of land, production, business and people. Each fortnight topics vary to meet your questions, enabling the program to deliver powerful discussion, ongoing support, momentum and connection.

For those who want 1:1 support, we can match you up with a coach to go through your specific questions, as well as a Full Farm Diagnostic. This diagnostic covers the 3 secrets of profit in relation to your operation, and provides an effective way to review your farm's true costs and profitability, whilst also creating a pathway for those interested in forming an ExecutiveLink Board.

DATES: Fortnightly on a Thursday 12pm-1:30pm AEST (runs 60-90mins)

COST: July & August 2022 Special Complimentary Offer

What have others said?

"Managing for Profit gives you the confidence to follow through on your ideas after you leave an RCS course. You can brainstorm with your peers and RCS teachers to test and troubleshoot your plans. It also puts focus back on things in your business that you were disregarding as insignificant but could be affecting your production and bottom line."

JOS MACLEAN – BARALABA, QLD

"Managing for Profit lets you continue learning without having to leave the farm, as you hear about the real-life application of RCS principles from others."
